

Braidwood Gaol and Entrance Book No. 1897

The Braidwood Gaol and Entrance Book represents a list of charges received by the various committees during the above period, which resulted in good detentions, or following arrest until the Braidwood Gaol was completed, or detention after the Quarter Sessions, if had been met.

To give extra insight into the history of Braidwood at this time the year of the charge, entries from the Braidwood Gaol Discharge Book, Newspaper Reports and information from the Police Gazette, where available, have been added. This information describes the nature of the sentence, the date of discharge, and the crime.

The year, only sometimes noted in the records, the Discharge comments, Newspaper and Police information are from other sources and therefore indicated by a different colour.

The charges were entered into a book, and the book was never microfilmed and is held in the National Library and in State Records. Note that traveller's and others, often including the children of the detainees, used the gaols facilities as it offered the cheapest accommodation.

The charges were entered by various gaol wardens at the time and reflect the literacy and numeracy skills of these men. Some had copper plate hand writing and excellent spelling abilities. Others were virtually illegible in their writing and had very little spelling ability. The rules of inscription dictate the records should be copied exactly as they are written, which also means the spelling and the sentence structure are not corrected. Any corrections or explanations for the transcriber are entered in italics, between square brackets. Due to the abundance of spelling mistakes, spelling that is incorrect but phonetically correct is not being interpreted. Different spellings of many of the names were found in the various newspapers and in the records. Sometimes the Christian names is different to that in the Braidwood Quarter Sessions. Newspapers recorded several people for each of the Braidwood Quarter Sessions and these names are grouped relative to the gaol numbers and so it is assumed that each the prosecuted had a different name in the court as the official had made a mistake.

The do was often used as an abbreviation of Dingo.

The records have been entered chronologically, filling each page before the next page begins, and this worked well until the pages recording gaol numbers 1894-1896. New pages were started before the previous page was completed, then the earlier pages were filled in again. This resulted in charges that occurred at different times being entered on the same page. Therefore, the dates were not in chronological order and so the order has been changed to follow the Gaol Number, but is also resulted in missing gaol numbers, or there is no gaol number for 1670, 1671 and 1715-1795, and many gaol numbers have been repeated. Further, the next charge after gaol number 2013 was 2001 and the charge after gaol number 1399 was 213010, indicating a degree of disorganisation. In 1893 the Gaol Numbers start at 1 again and after a few numbers end at 1189/1890.

Unfortunately, the Newspaper and Police entries in the 1880s and 1890s were scarce, and so dating was hindered, especially at the beginning and end of each year. Often the Newspaper, Braidwood Gaol Discharge Book and Police records did not account for every person in the Braidwood Gaol Entrance Book, and often there were persons mentioned in the accounts, referred to in Braidwood gaol, but were not recorded in the Entrance Book.
